$10,000 SAFE COP REWARD OFFERED IN THE ONLY
UNSOLVED MURDER OF A PHILADELPHIA POLICE OFFICER

MORGANVILLE, NJ, JANUARY 16, 2014: On Thursday January 16, 2014, the National Police Defense Foundation (NPDF) Executive Director, Joseph Occhipinti and other NPDF officials joined the family of PO Frederick Cione killed in the line of duty on January 30, 1970 almost 44 years ago to announce the posting of a $10,000 “SAFE COP” reward.

The posting of the $10,000 Safe Cop reward was predicated upon a request from Philadelphia Police Deputy Commissioner Nola Joyce on August 8, 2013. This crime is the only unsolved murder of a Police Officer in the history of the Philadelphia Police Department. Our family of one deserves closure, indeed case closed by the arrest(s) of his murderers if still alive. A plaque at 17th and Oxford marks the spot where Officer Cione was shot and killed, a reminder of how vulnerable members of law enforcement are and that we are one family that never forgets our own.

Frederick Cione was a first year officer, a Vietnam veteran, and only 25 years old, he was denied a family and a future by his assailant(s). It is unfathomable how a death of a young police officer went cold case.

"One or two names, persons of interest, did come up; however, we never had quite enough to make an arrest," Captain James Clark of the Philadelphia Police Department said. Fred Cione's younger brother, Nick, joined the police force soon after his brother's murder and is now retired. His two sons, Fred Cione's nephews who were born after his killing, are today Sergeants. "You just keep hoping. There's nothing else you can do. You just hope somebody makes a mistake. Somebody does something to a friend he didn't like and he makes a phone call to Homicide. That's how sometimes cases get solved," Nick Cione said.

There is now $40,000 in reward money for anyone providing key evidence: $10,000 from the National Police Defense Foundation, $20,000 from the city of Philadelphia, and $10,000 from the Fraternal Order of Police. A family of a police officer is in need of closure, an innocent soul needs to rest.
